

New York's Energy Vision

A Conversation on Valuing Resources

Presented in partnership by

The Pace Energy & Climate Center, Couch White, and the New York State Department of Public Service

Keynote Address:

New York State Public Service Commission Chair
Audrey Zibelman

Friday, March 13, 2015

Pace University

9:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

3 Spruce St. New York, NY 10038

Space is limited, RSVP to communityrelations@pace.edu

Session 1

Renewable

Energy

Panelists

The objective is to describe the benefits & shortcomings of current approaches and alternative approaches to valuing renewable energy. Using solar energy as a case study, the first session would be chaired, introduced and moderated by Karl Rábago, Pace Energy and Climate Center.

Lena Hansen, Rocky Mountain
Institute

Jamil Khan, Solar City

Ozgem Ornektekin, NYC-DCAS

Richard Perez, SUNY Albany

David Sandbank, NYSERDA.

Session 2

Standby

Tariffs

Panelists

The objective for the second panel is to discuss the rationale for standby tariffs and potential inequities raised by current standby tariff designs. The panel will also consider alternative models and approaches. The second session would be chaired, introduced and moderated by Bob Loughney, Couch White.

Tom Bourgeois, Pace Energy and Climate Center

Consolidated Edison

Michael Mager, Couch White

Sukanya Paciorek, Vornado Realty
Trust

Richard Sedano, Regulatory Assistance Project